

JOINT FIRE SCIENCE PROGRAM

Research Supporting Sound Decisions

The Joint Fire Science Program (JFSP) provides funding and science delivery for scientific studies associated with managing wildland fire, fuels, and fire-impacted ecosystems to respond to emerging needs of managers, practitioners, and policymakers from local to national levels.

The goal of the Fire Science Exchange Network (FSEN) is to accelerate the awareness, understanding, adoption, and implementation of readily available wildland fire science information.

FireScience.gov

